YOSHIKO MIYAZAKI.

20 APPEARANCES:

D.J. HANDFORD, Esq.,	Official Interpreter.

(MRS.) YOSHIKO MIYAZAKI, the claimant herein, being first duly sworn, testified through the Interpreter as follows:

MR. OUIMET: The original claim, my lord, was for chattels and was for $415.00. I respectfully submit it should be amended to read, original claim $1500.00, less received from Custodian $447.15, leaving a net balance of $1052.85. So the original claim should be $1052.85.

10 DIRECT EXAMINATION BY MR. OUIMET:

Q Mrs. Miyazaki, you are the claimant in this case?

A Yes.

Q Would you take communication of a personal chattels claim form bearing your signature for a balance of $1052.85, with inventory of personal chattels attached thereto, and identify same and file same as Exhibit No. 1?

A Yes.

(STATEMENT MARKED EXHIBIT NO. 1).

20 MR. OUIMET: Would my learned friend tender the personal property analysis which I would file as Exhibit 2?

MR. HUNTER: I tender the analysis of personal property claim as Exhibit 2.

(ANALYSIS MARKED EXHIBIT NO. 2).

MR. OUIMET: That is all, my lord, for the present.

MR. HUNTER: It is submitted, my lord, that personal property sold by the Custodian was sold for its fair market value. It is submitted that claims made for personal property not sold are exorbitant.

30 This woman, when she declared her personal property showed no personal property of any kind, but later on September 16th she gave a list which is shown in column 1 of the analysis. These were left in a building which was the Fairview Japanese Language School, and when inventoried a lot of these things couldn't be identified. Not only herself but a number of other Japanese people left things there and the school itself had things there and it was very difficult to ascertain which was which, and all I can do is to go over the list shown here attached to Exhibit 1 and say which were received, whetherthey were found and sold, and which were not found or identified.

The first four items shown on the inventory attached to Exhibit 1, I have marked "not found". The office table was sold for $15.00. The next two items were not found. The piano alone and not the chair was sold for $137.00. The next five items were not found.

THE COMMISSIONER: That is down to the lamp stand.

MR. HUNTER: Down to the two stoves.

THE COMMISSIONER: Yes. We start with the bookcase and books, is that right?

MR. HUNTER: Yes, we start with the bookcase and books.

THE COMMISSIONER: And you go down to two stoves?

MR. HUNTER: The two stoves were sold for $12.70. The clook was sold for $1.50. I don't know which clock it is, my lord. There are two clocks there, mantle clock and a wall clock. One of them was sold for $1.50 and the other one was listed as not found. The three beds were sold for $12.00. The couch was sold for $1.00. The bureau was sold for $7.00. The next four items were not found.

THE COMMISSIONER: That includes the cedar fumed wardrobe.

MR. HUNTER: Yes, in fact it goes further. The three items after that were not found either which takes you down to the refrigerator which was sold. The refrigerator was sold for $168.00, the washing machine for $83.00, the kitchen cupboard for $5.50. The next two items were not found, and the various dishes as shown next -- there were dishes to the amount of $1.50 sold. There were some Japanese dolls sold for $2.50.

THE COMMISSIONER: Just a minute. We have a dinner set.

MR. HUNTER: The two boxes of Japanese dishes and a dinner set and a box of silverware. Well, the box of silverware wasn't found. With regard to the two items of dishes, all I can say is that some dishes were sold for $1.50.

THE COMMISSIONER: Yes. Some dolls sold?

MR. HUNTER: Yes, there were some dolls sold for $2.50. The curtains and blinds do not appear to have been found. The chesterfield set was found, but it was never known to whom to credit it, as the Fairview Japanese Language Association had also reported a chesterfield suite there. There was the chesterfield set sold for $69.00, but that is still in suspense account because it was never known to whom to credit it.

Now, among other things held in the chattels suspense account are the proceeds from the sale of three kitchen tables. This woman declared some tables, but no kitchen tables and also one bed was sold for $11.00 which couldn't be identified. On the other hand there are two beds and springs which were abandoned as having no value, and it was impossible to charge those against any particular person as they were not marked. She reported two double beds and a baby bed but she has been given credit for one bed sold for $12.00.

This inventory was taken in December of 1942, at the end of December, and at that time no identification could be made of the large number of items. Then again later in 1943 in June, the place was ransacked and boxes and trunks were opened, and of course they didn't know what was in them in the first place so they didn't know what was missing; and what was scattered around couldn't be identified as belonging to any person, so it is pretty difficult to get a very clear picture of the situation, my lord.

As far as I know there wasn't anything stolen or the place wasn't ransacked prior to her subsequent declaration.

MR. OUIMET: You mean the declaration of September 16th, 1942?

MR. HUNTER: Yes, and the only thing I could say is that the items don't appear to have been clearly marked so they could be identified. Possibly my learned friend can find out from the witness just how they were marked.

MR. OUIMET: I shall try, my lord.

Q Mrs. Miyazaki, what was your husband's position in Vancouver? A: He was a teacher at the Japanese Language School.

Q What was the address of that Japanese Language School? A: 154 5th Avenue West.

Q Was that the Fairview Japanese Language School?

A Yes.

10 Q He was a teacher? Was he not principal of that school? A: Yes, he was the principal.

Q As a matter of fact, I understand that you lived at the back of the Fairview Japanese Language School?

A Yes.

Q Do I understand that the personal property, a list of which you gave the Custodian on September 16th, 1942, was at the back of the Japanese Language School when you gave that list?

20 A Yes.

Q Did you have any special markings to identify articles as part of that list?

A All the boxes were numbered.

Q The boxes were numbered. In Japanese or in English?

A In English numerals.

Q In English numerals, namely Arabic. Now, Mrs. Miyazaki, why did you not declare any personal property on the original J.P. form?

A At first we only wrote the big items that we

30 could remember, then we forwarded a more detailed list later on.

Q Because from what I can see in the Custodian's records, you are listed as having said that you had no personal properties.

THE COMMISSIONER: I think perhaps it would be safer to present the document to the lady and let her identify it.

MR. OUIMET: Q: Would you look at a J.P. statement dated the 19th of October, 1942, bearing the signature Yoshiko Miyazaki? Do you know that signature?

10

A Yes.

Q Whose signature is it? A: That is mine.

Q That is your signature in the presence of some person by the name of D.M. Chope? A: Yes.

Q Do you see under the "Statement of Personal Property Owned", you mentioned "none"?

A At first when I was questioned about personal property, I thought they were referring to my husband's property, and he was in the internment camp.

Q But from the analysis of personal property claim, it shows that on September 16th, 1942, that is a month and three days before you signed the J.P. form, you sent in a list of articles?

MR. HUNTER: My lord, I may be of some assistance on that.

THE COMMISSIONER: Q: What is the witness' answer?

A I didn't think that it applied to personal things, but only to real property.

MR. OUIMET: I see.

30

THE COMMISSIONER: Now, Mr. Hunter, you had something you wished to say?

MR. HUNTER: I think when this lady declared this property, she declared it on behalf of her husband who was in an internment camp in September, and later when she declared her own property, I think it is quite possible she may have considered at that time that this being her husband's property, she was under no duty to report it, and that may well be the explanation rather than the far fetched one that she didn't know she had to report personal property, because she had already reported the husband's property.

THE COMMISSIONER: Have you the husband's J.P. form?

MR. HUNTER: I don't think he ever made one. I haven't it here.

MR. OUIMET: He was in an internment camp, my lord.

THE COMMISSIONER: You say she declared her husband's property. When did she do that?

MR. HUNTER: The list shown in column 1 of the analysis was declared on behalf of her husband.

THE COMMISSIONER: That is the September 16th list?

MR. HUNTER: Yes.

THE COMMISSIONER: What is the date of the J.P. form?

MR. HUNTER: The 19th of October, subsequent to that. It would seem logical to me that she wouldn't declare it under her own name, having declared it already under her husband's name.

THE COMMISSIONER: I think it would be as well if you put in her J.P. form.

MR. HUNTER: Very good, my lord. I will file the J.P. form of the claimant.

THE COMMISSIONER: It has already been identified.

MR. HUNTER: Yes, my lord.

(J.P. FORM MARKED EXHIBIT NO. 3).

MR. OUIMET: I think even if that does happen it doesn't deprive the person from claiming those chattels.

THE COMMISSIONER: What has happened to the husband?

MR. OUIMET: I am told he lives in Montreal.

THE COMMISSIONER: You better find that out. We better find out that the husband is here, and if so, I will ask you to file a letter signed by the husband authorizing the wife to present this claim.

MR. OUIMET: Q Mrs. Miyazaki, where is your husband living now? A: 3608 De Bullion, the same place as I am living, in Montreal.

Q Are you living together? A: Yes.

Q Is it possible for you to secure a letter from your husband authorizing you to file the personal chattel claim on his behalf? A: Yes.

Q And will you kindly allow your attorney to file this letter as Exhibit 4? A: Yes.

Q Thank you. Have you anything to add to what you have previously told the Commissioner?

A In the first place I would like to request that I be compensated at the present day replacement cost.

In regard to other people, such as the English people who were bombed out, we would like to be treated the same as the people who were bombed out in Britain.

Q Anything else? A: No.

MR. HUNTER: They were compensated on pre-war standards, if she would like that treatment.

THE COMMISSIONER: Mr. Ouimet, I will leave it to you to explain to the claimant the answer to her last request.

MR. OUIMET: Yes, my lord.

THE COMMISSIONER: Have you anything else? All right, thank you, Mrs. Miyazaki.
