In a striking editorial, the Indianapolis News rebutes the tith-loving tendencies of the citizens of the Republic, which, it says the journal, "whother days is doubtful," says the journal, "whother there are more real titles in London than there are sham titles at Washington." Everybody is general, or a judge, or a colonel, or a doctor, or a professor.

In Canada there is a yearning towards the same absurdity. Soon we may professor, the same absurdity. Soon we made they are the same absurdity. Soon we made they are the same absurdity. And when Coule the whole the same had the transe and wonderful longs titles which when the same and sught.
