Babson Looks Into This Country Finds It Good; Famous Fortunes on Past Founded in Depression; Urges Creative Salesmanship

By ROGER W. BABSON

By ROGER W. BABSON
BABSON PARK, Fla., March 19.—Most of the great fortunes and many of our greatest business establishments were founded in periods of depression.

This shows that depressions bring opportunities as well as failures. What every individual and every concern wants to know is how to avoid the failures and how to capitalize the opportunities.

There is only one way that I know; and that is to keep everlastingly alert to the trend of the times. The business structure is always in a state of flux, but during a depression the changes are swifter, and more numerous.

Looking back over business history, I
