Survey Discloses Japanese Homes 'Unfit for Humans'

Sub-human housing standards formerly enjoyed by many occupants of Little Tokyo, are being brought to light by surveys to be considered next Tuesday by a special committee of the City Council.

Several premises in the Jap quarter have already been placarded as "unfit for human habitation" (see cut) although they used to pass as homes for Nipponese competing with white workers.

The drive to reclaim the district for white Canadians (exclusively reported July 14, by The Vancouver Sun) will resume next week at a conference between the civic committee and the Custodian of Alien Enemy Property.

"I understand that the Custodian and the Dominion Government will co-operate with us right to the hilt," The Sun was told today by Ald. George Buscombe, committee chairman.

AWFUL MESS

Sanitation and building inspectors have been amazed by conditions discovered in the area. Contrary to the legend that Japanese are a cleanly race, those who have visited the vacant homes found indescribable filth and squalor.

"There is an awful mess down there," Ald. Buscombe said. "I made an inspection for myself Wednesday and many of the premises are in appalling condition. It wouldn't cost much money to put some of them in reasonable shape, but a lot of them are dilapidated and dirty to an unimaginable degree, with windows nailed up with unsightly old boards."

He could easily find a dozen buildings, "and perhaps more," he said, which could never be made habitable short of demolition and complete reconstruction.

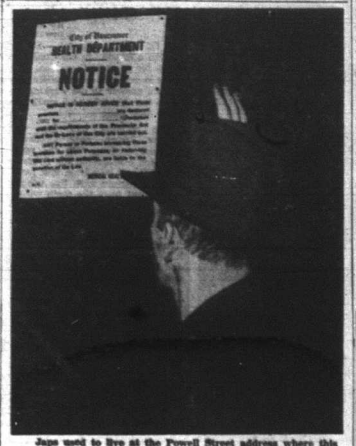
"I know exactly what I would do if it was up to me," he added, "but I must await the official reports."

WHOLESALE RENOVATION

One of the most important is to come from the Health Department. Dr. Stewart Murray, Medical Health Officer, said that details are not yet complete. He is a member of the committee, together with Corporation Counsel D. E. McTaggart, K.C., and Building Inspector Andrew Haggart.

Members of the City Council, from Mayor Cornett down, fear that Little Tokyo will breed the worst slum conditions in Vancouver unless a wholesale program of renovation is adopted.

Before action can be taken, however, it will be necessary to establish ownership of the real estate. At City Hall it was said that Japs own a large percentage of premises but that white landlords are also deeply involved.



Japs used to live at the Powell Street address where this picture was taken but all citizens are warned by the notice shown above that the premises are unfit for occupancy. Several similar cases have been found by civic authorities who are now striving to reclaim Little Tokyo for white occupancy.

Bus Stolen

A school bus which its owner, E. H. Neville, had been using to bring workmen from the Dominion Bridge plant to the carline, was stolen from Boundary Road and Hastings Street, 11 o'clock Thursday night. License number of the orange-painted bus is C-3868.

Winner of the model Spanish bungalow raffled by the Ioco and Sunnyside Red Cross division, was Miss Beverley Cameron, Ioco, who held ticket number 1906.

City Gets Additional 20,000 Gals. Asphalt

W. A. Sheppard, city purchasing agent, was notified today by the federal oil controller that Vancouver will be allowed an additional 20,000 gallons of emulsified asphalt for road repair work.

The city's request at the beginning of the year to be allowed to purchase 130,000 gallons of the material was ruled out by the oil controller, who stated that because of war shortage only 100,000 gallons would be permitted.

Urgent pleas for a bigger allotment, resulted in today's concession.

Since the original amount requested is considered the minimum requirement for necessary street repairs, Mr. Sheppard is again taking the matter up with Ottawa.

Army Comes First

OTTAWA, Aug. 28.—The War time Prices and Trade Board has issued an order requiring beet wholesalers to fulfill their contracts with the armed forces before selling any beef to the civilian population, J. G. Taggart, Coordinator of the foods administration branch of the board, said yesterday.

The order, issued Tuesday, was brought into force because certain dealers had reported inability to fulfill contracts to the armed forces because they had sold the meat on the civilian market, Mr. Taggart said.

Experience of ballconists has proved that high pitched sounds can be heard at greater altitudes than low pitched ones.

School Trustees Ask Army to Exempt Teachers

The B.C. School Trustees' Association has wired Gen. L. R. LaFleche, deputy minister of national war services, in support of a suggestion made by the Ontario and Quebec teachers' groups, that secondary school teachers be exempt from military service or receive deferments of their draft calls.

Allan G. Fellowes, secretary-treasurer of the association, told The Sun today that a definite stand must be taken by the government with regard to the teachers' status.

"The government is in a position to know whether a teacher is more valuable as a member of the army or as a person who is instructing and educating hundreds of others, who will go into the army on graduation.

Watch Those School Zones; 15 M.P.H. in Force Monday

Those school zone signs will really mean 15 miles an hour from Monday on.

Drivers are reminded that school opens at the beginning of the week and that thousands of children will be converging on school yards, many of them youngsters of tender years who have never gone to school before.

"Motorists must comply with the 15-mile-an-hour limit in school zones on all days of the year on which school is in session, according to the Motor Act," says the traffic office at Vancouver Police Department.

"Traffic officers will begin again enforcing that clause Monday."

E. C. Chapman, president of Vancouver Traffic and Safety Council, asks co-operation of motorists and street car motormen in safeguarding the children.

Advice to parents sending youngsters to school is given by F. P. Lightbody, chairman of the child safety committee of the Council, who stresses the importance of clothing distinctive enough to be seen.

"With dark, rainy weather in the offing," he states, "a child wearing outer clothing that is distinguishable is afforded greater protection. Protect your child and assist drivers in protecting him by having him wear some article of clothing that is white."

Neglect of Bleeding Gums may mean GINGIVITIS

Trouble for 4 out of 5?

At this very moment—Gingivitis may be creeping up on you. Some of the first signs are tender gums that bleed a little when you brush your teeth, a condition that often leads to Pyorrhea.

Be on guard! Massage your gums twice daily with Forhan's Toothpaste. Forhan's is unexcelled for both massaging gums to be firmer and cleaning even dingy teeth to their natural brilliance.

Forhan's costs no more than ordinary toothpastes. Enjoy its advantages! All drug and department stores.
