This Japanese declared certain effects were left in a dwelling located on C.P.R. property at Port Moody. He acknowledged however an inventory of only a few effects found there and it is assumed that he disposed of the balance himself.

The chattels found in the dwelling were removed to Custodian Storage in New Westminster and subsequently sold at auctions of November 17 and November 26, 1943 realizing the net sum of $20.41 as per sales sheets on file. This amount was credited to him.
