MEMORANDUM

From: Mrs. McArthur

Re: Payments by Debtors

In cases where Japanese (either persons or companies) have gone into bankruptcy, and partial but final dividends have been paid to creditors, there is no further obligation upon the debtor to pay the balance of the debt if he has been formally discharged in the bankruptcy proceedings.

If, however, he has not been formally discharged (and this information may be obtained from the official trustee who conducted the winding up) the debtor is expected to pay the balance of his indebtedness to his creditors, and when further assets come into his hands he should endeavour to make payment in full.

The Custodian, therefore, acting for the Japanese debtor should acquaint the official trustee of the acquisition of further assets, and consult with the trustee as to whether it is expedient to remit such funds for further distribution to creditors. Where, however, funds which come into the debtor's account with the Custodian are very small in relation to the claims, it is unlikely that the official trustee would require such to be distributed, but it would be well to have a memorandum on file to show that the official trustee had been notified and that his consent was given to send the funds direct to the Japanese debtor concerned.

Re: Eigorō HIRAGA, Reg. 02394

This man has requested the proceeds from sale of his radio, and sent in the radio receipt.

He has a credit-balance of $39.03, including $35.35 from radio sale.

If the Dept. of Labour approves of remittance, would it be in order to send the funds, or would this man's assets be affected by the Bankruptcy of the Kawada Box Company - See memorandum of March 15, 1945.

Aug 29/45

General reply attached -

As far as this file is concerned according to Mr. Dusenbury's summary dated Mar 15/45, Hiraga appears to have no personal claims against him apart from those filed against Kawada Box Co. There are, however, two claims on our file against the Kawada Box which were for some reason not passed on to the trustee in bankruptcy, but I note that this man was told that he could have the proceeds from the radio if he the receipt and I suggest that you send it. All.
