Dear Sir:

Last week I wrote to the Vancouver branch of the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company requesting $300.00 from my deposit with that company. Their reply was that they could make no payments to me without the consent of the custodian. This deposit is the insurance money which I received as beneficiary upon the passing of my husband, David Kyphing Yarneska, last year in September 14, 1943. Coming to Slocan City in October 1943. I have been considering here and so require this request of $300 for maintenance and winter clothing for my son and myself. Would you please forward your consent to A. S. McCloskey, Branch Secretary of the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company as soon as possible so they may be able to send me a cheque directly or through your office. The Insurance policy number is 744,859.

In the event that you will not send me $300, would you please send me
as much of that amount as possible.
I thank you for your immediate attention.

Yours very truly,

Re: Kiyohiro David Yamaoka, Deceased.

Upon reviewing the file of your late husband, Kiyohiro David Yamaoka, we find that, although neither you nor your husband declared any assets to the Custodian, on July 27, 1943, the sum of $2.08 was received from the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company, representing a dividend on their policy #744859, issued in the name of your husband.

We are enclosing herewith Custodian cheque in your favour for this amount. Kindly acknowledge receipt of this cheque.

No other assets, belonging to either you or your deceased husband, remain under the control of the Custodian.

Yours very truly,
