

Mori v. Lion Lumber Co.

Between Mori, and
Lion Lumber Company Limited

[1932] B.C.J. No. 94

46 B.C.R. 292

British Columbia Supreme Court
Vancouver, British Columbia

Fisher J.
(In Chambers)

Heard: October 25, 1932.

Judgment: November 14, 1932.

Counsel

Brown, K.C., for plaintiff.

Nicholson, for defendants.

---

1 FISHER J.:-- I have come to the conclusion that the application herein, to review a taxation of the defendant Genji Yada's costs, should be dismissed (without costs) on the ground that, in view of the terms of the formal judgment and the wording of rule 977, the taxing officer could not do otherwise than give to the said successful defendant "the whole costs" for the various steps he found it necessary for him to take.

Application dismissed.
